Course description: Attendance of lectures and seminars on various engineering topics

Course objectives: At the end of this course, the students will have enhanced their knowledge on recent advances, research areas and technical developments in various areas of Mechanical Engineering.

Course content and structure: students attend weekly lectures and seminars given by invited speakers

Learning outcomes: Learning outcomes parallel the course objectives stated above.

Evaluation of learning outcomes: Letter grades are assigned according to attendance.

Other Important Information: For policies related to academic honesty, the academic calendar, religious holy days, and disabilities, student